Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 31 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Heavy rain clearing to showers. Very windy.

Today:
Heavy rain, accompanied by squally winds, will soon clear eastern counties. A brief brighter interlude will follow, but soon replaced by blustery heavy showers, some with hail and thunder. Gales around the coast, perhaps severe gales in the Bristol Channel. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
Plenty more showers rattling through overnight, but some eastern areas seeing drier, clearer spells. Windy, with coastal gales, at least through the first part of the night. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Monday:
Some eastern areas starting off quite sunny, but showers, already in the west, will soon spread to all parts. Some hail and thunder is possible and staying quite windy. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Further showers on Tuesday and Wednesday, but gradually becoming confined with windward coasts. Somewhat drier by Thursday. Northerly winds will make for a cold feel, with some frost inland overnight.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.